SCAR & STRETCHMARK CAMOUFLAGE

We Make Them Disappear

Scars due to acne, cuts, surgical incisions and burns are treated using a rotary machine device where pigment is deposited using microneedles. The treatment results in a seamless transition between your natural skin tone and where the either pink or very light scar is. It is a similar feeling to tattooing, so for your comfort a numbing cream is applied before treatment begins.

Scar Camouflage works best on light scars that are not raised. Raised scars may need a few microneedling treatments first to soften and flatten the scar before the actual camouflage portion of the treatment may begin.

All scars must be healed before treatment can begin.

Using paramedical tattoo techniques, we can soften, smooth out and cover up scars and stretchmarks. We offer camouflage using pigments as well as inkless options using healing vitamin serums.

AREOLA RESTORATION

3D and Realistic

3D Areola tattooing is a technique for anyone that may have had total loss, irregularity, or inconsistency in the areola and nipples after any type of breast surgery. We create the illusion of a real areola and protrusion of the nipple.

SCALP MICROPIGMENTATION

Building Density

Also known as SMP, creating the illusion of fuller and more dense hair line, replicating the real hair follicles.

why choose us

YOUR SATISFACTION IS OUR PRIORITY

There are a LOT of choices out there BUT here is why you should chose US!

We are certified, insured, licensed and passed all health inspections.

We take cleanliness and client satisfaction very seriously. We are compassionate to all stories behind the scars and are honoured to be a part of that journey.

What to Expect After

You can expect pain and redness and a darker pigmentation to the area. The pain and redness will reduce slowly over the following days, but it can take weeks before the pigment lightens. It will likely need between 2-4 treatments to get the best match of pigment to your natural skin tone.

Scar Camouflage is used to effectively diminish the appearance of both scars and stretch marks. Micro-needling may be used to first to enhance treatment for raised (hypertrophic) scars. Raised scars form most often at the sites of pimples, body piercings, cuts, surgical incisions and burns.

As a healing response to the microneedling, your own growth factors are regenerated which stimulate the production of collagen and elastin which softens and smooths scars that may be raised, while the addition of pigmentation that is matched to your skin tone evens the difference in colour between your natural skin tone and the color of the healed scar.

A close-up photograph of a person's back, showing a faint, healed paramedical tattoo. The tattoo is a light, reddish-brown color and appears to be a series of small, irregular marks or a very light line. The skin is smooth and has a natural tone. The tattoo is located on the upper back, near the shoulder blades.

FAQ

Does it hurt?

Paramedical tattoo is a form of tattooing, but we use two forms of numbing to help keep you as comfortable as possible. We also use only the best tools, machines and cartridges to ensure optimal healing and results.

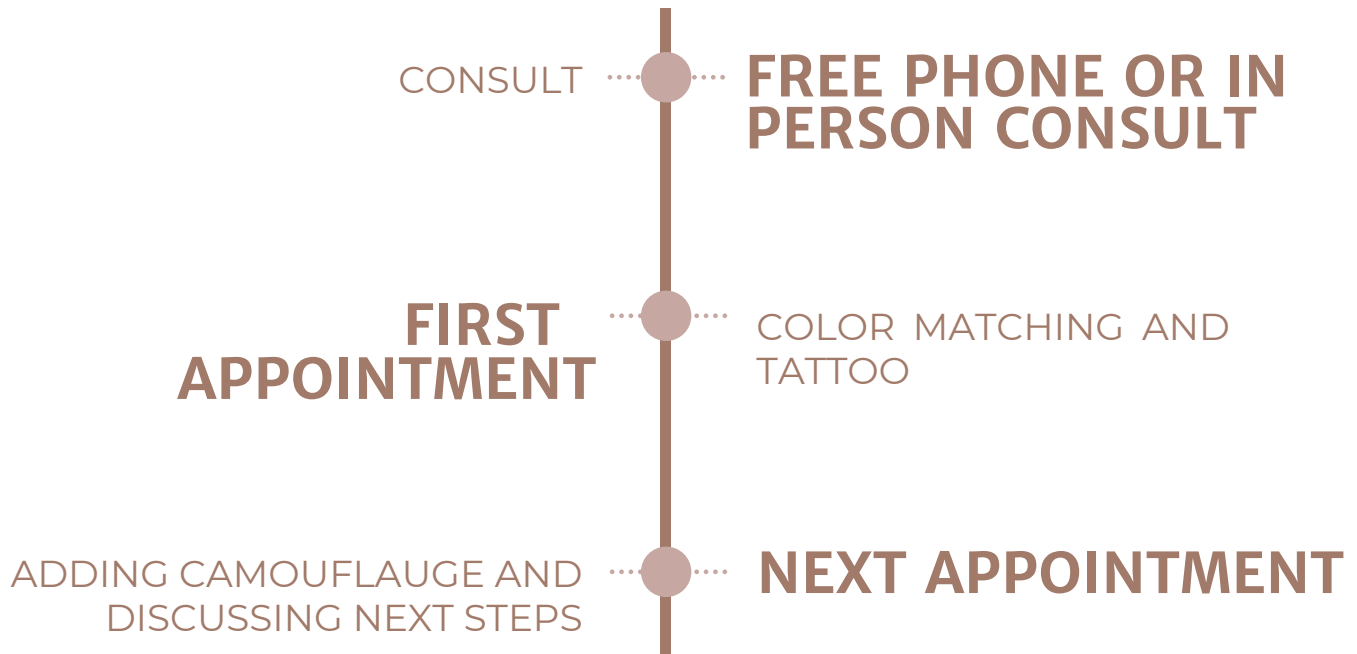

How many sessions will it take?

Each individual client and case is unique so the number of sessions is not the same for everyone. However, rest assured that all sessions will be included in the quote given to you at your consultation.

How long is the down time?

As with any service we want to know how long in the healing time. With paramedical tattoo, we are implanting ink under the layer of skin and creating minimal trauma. The healing process takes about 4 weeks but you can return to regular activities the same day.
